FAQs

Please see below our FAQs. We also advise all travellers to stay up to date with the FCDO's current travel restrictions and safety protocols, as guidance can change.

What happens if I can't travel due to a positive coronavirus diagnosis?

With our SeyExclusive COVID-19 Protection Promise, we will fully protect your booking if you are unable to travel due to a positive coronavirus diagnosis. Please note that this is applicable to bookings made from 31st July 2020 onwards.

We will replace your trip to the original value if:

- You, or any person you are travelling with on the same booking, receive a positive coronavirus diagnosis within 7 days of your departure or within 28 days of your departure if you have been hospitalised as a result of coronavirus.
- If you, or any person you are travelling with on the same booking, are refused boarding following a positive coronavirus diagnosis or failed temperature check at your original departure point.

Please note that any changes or amendments to your hotel and/or flights may be subject to extra charges.

What if the borders close to a destination I am travelling to?

If the borders of the destination you are due to travel to close or remain closed, you will have the option to move your travel dates forward, claim a travel voucher for your cancelled holiday. Will travel insurance cover COVID-19?

Travel insurance is imperative at the best of times, and now even more so. It is essential to take out travel insurance before your holiday to cover all medical treatment and repatriation.

Do I need to get a COVID-19 test before travelling?

Depending on the destination you are travelling to, or the airline who you are flying with, you may need to have a COVID-19 test before your flight. Each destination and airline have imposed varying regulations for those entering the country and boarding their flights.

If the destination you are travelling to will accept a "Fit to Fly" or negative COVID-19 Certificate of Testing, they will require that you have the test a specified number of hours before your flight; the required number of hours will vary by destination and airline, so this is something that your dedicated Luxury Travel Specialist will advise you of. Some destinations will also require travellers to present health declarations, medical forms or tracing information before entry. Please refer to the FCDO website for more information.

Where can I get a COVID-19 test?

There are a variety of health providers that offer private COVID-19 tests and details of these can be found online. Some health providers will require you to come into the clinic to have your test done, whereas others will send you the testing kit by post for you to administer yourself. The COVID-19 test involves inserting a swab into the back of the throat and/or deep inside the nose to collect a sample of saliva and other fluid. They can also be at varying costs depending on the level of service you select.

What if my COVID-19 test results do not come back in time?

Each COVID-19 test provider will charge different prices and have varying turnaround times for test results, so it is best to clarify what these are before you purchase a test and ensure these are returned to you before you depart. Please note that we cannot be held responsible in the event that the test results are not returned in time for departure, however, we will of course try our best to assist you with moving the trip.

Is it safe to travel by air at the moment?

It is a requirement of most airlines that all passengers wear face masks for the entire duration of their flight to help limit the spread of the virus. Airlines have enhanced their cleaning procedures and audit inspections for each of their aircraft to ensure that all surfaces are heavily sanitised. The majority of commercial aircraft are fitted with HEPA filters which efficiently remove any particulate and bacterial contamination throughout the duration of the flight.

For further information, we recommend speaking to your dedicated Luxury Travel Specialist or airline.

How has the airport experience changed?

It is recommended that passengers wear face masks for the duration of their time in the airport to help limit the spread of COVID-19. All passengers are encouraged to use contactless payments and online check-in services where possible, as well as follow all social distancing measures. Many airports have limited retail services available, with some outlets operating with reduced hours. Most major airports have implemented signs, barriers and markers to ensure that social distancing procedures can easily be followed.

Screening procedures and waiting times will vary airport-to-airport, so your dedicated SeyExclusive Destination Expert will be able to inform you of all relevant procedures in place at your chosen airport. If you feel unwell on arrival at the airport, it is important to seek assistance from the nearest member of staff.

Can I still take hand luggage on to the plane?

To streamline the check-in process and maintain social distancing measures, you may be asked to check your hand luggage into the hold baggage. Our team can answer any questions regarding your chosen airline and the measures they have put in place.

How will my flight be different?

Many airlines have taken on stringent protocols to ensure the safety of every traveller. You may be required to wear a face mask for the duration of your flight, and many airlines have incorporated social distancing measures into the seating configuration.

In general, we also advise:

- Remaining seated where possible and following social distancing measures in the cabin.
- Opting for contactless payment methods where possible.
- Informing a staff member if you feel unwell.

What will the airport experience be like in my holiday destination?

Each airport will differ country-to-country depending on local rules and regulations. Your dedicated Travel Specialist will be able to assure you of all COVID-19 procedures depending on where you are travelling.

Will I have to wear a mask in my holiday destination?

We advise remaining up to date with the FCDO for any protocols that have been recently put in place in the destination/s that you are visiting. In general, it is strongly advisable to wear a face mask or covering in enclosed spaces or wherever social distancing may not be possible.

What can I expect when I arrive at my hotel?

Each hotel has put in place their own safety measures and protocols to ensure the wellbeing of all of their visitors and staff, which your dedicated SeyExclusive Destination Expert will advise you of.

In some resorts, there may be restrictions on spa treatments and excursions, and restaurants may be operating on a reduced menu.

What do I need to do if I feel unwell on holiday?

Should you begin to feel unwell and experience any of the following symptoms while you are away:

- High fever
- New and persistent coughing
- Loss of taste and/or smell

We advise that you stay in your accommodation and avoid contact with others, follow local health guidance where applicable and immediately contact your health insurance provider for advice.

What happens if another guest contracts COVID-19 during my stay?

Each resort has different procedures for if a guest contracts COVID-19 during their stay, so you will be able to find out more about individual resort policies from your dedicated Luxury Travel Specialist prior to travel.

Do I need to prepare anything before returning?

Up to 48 hours before returning to the UK, you must complete a 'Passenger Locator' form online which must then be printed or downloaded to your mobile phone before you reach Border Control. This form can be found on HERE along with all the relevant information.

You will also, depending on your destination need to complete a lateral flow test, please keep up to date with this quickly changing information by visiting HERE
